

Aboriginal Legal Services Moose Jaw Saskatchewan

Aboriginal Legal Services Moose Jaw Saskatchewan - Tort law cases are legal cases which handle civil wrongs. If you have sustained injury or harm as a result of somebody else's intentional wrongdoing or negligence, you may be qualified to receive damages in a tort law case.

Negligence causing medical malpractice, personal injury and car accidents is the most common type of tort law case. Our tort law lawyers can help you determine who charges should be laid against and who is responsible for your damages. Even parties indirectly involved with an action that caused you harm can be held accountable for damages. Like for instance, the driver behind the wheel of a delivery truck can be held responsible for harming you in an accident, but so may the employer who hired the driver. Multiple parties may, in certain cases, be charged with negligence for the harm which you sustain.

Our tort law lawyers are skilled and really knowledgeable in tort law cases. Phone us for an assessment if you have been badly impacted by a civil wrong. We will help you to know your legal options and guide you through all parts of the tort law case.