Insurance Lawyers Moose Jaw Saskatchewan - You are qualified to go to court if an insurance firm violates the terms of a written contract. On the other hand, the courts would usually only force the insurance firm to pay the amounts owed in accordance to the contract.

Nevertheless, if the insurance firm has deliberately delayed or withheld payments you could be qualified for extra-contractual damages. These could be awarded due to the insurance firm ignoring or fabricating proof as well as providing an incomplete investigation of your claim. The damages awarded comprise costs such as interest payments and the loss of RRSPs, as well as compensation for mental suffering. Punitive and exemplary damages are granted when insurance firms display particularly malicious conduct.
