

Family Law Lawyers Moose Jaw Saskatchewan

Family Law Lawyers Moose Jaw Saskatchewan - For those people who have recently separated, our company specializes in the dealing with the difficult financial problems which may occur. Other family problems which our lawyers can help advise with consist of property division, divorce, adoption, access, child and adult guardianship, estate and trust issues as well as child and spousal support. We also can help create co-habitation agreements, asset protection agreements, marriage agreements, and separation agreements.

Our services are tailored to reflect the several requirements of our clients. Our qualified teams of lawyers are trained both inside the courtroom and in mediating and negotiating so that our clients can be efficiently and effectively. Besides negotiation, litigation and mediation, our firm even offers collaborative law approach. This is a relatively new method that allows family lawyers and various professionals, like financial advisors, to come to a settlement without going to court.
