

Legal Aid Moose Jaw Saskatchewan

Legal Aid Moose Jaw Saskatchewan - To be able to generate the least amount of risk, while maximizing profit is the ultimate goal when dealing with a corporate transaction. The system of taxation is very complicated, with many different rules and goals which helps regulate both foreign and domestic companies. Our practice provides sound recommendation concerning tax planning and aids in the resolution of tax controversies. We try to ensure that all transactions run tax-efficiently and quickly.

To be able to help our clients in the matters of acquisitions, divestitures, and the negotiation and structuring of mergers, we bring in our lawyers from the beginning. This ensures that each venture is tax efficient so that our clients may maximize their profit.

Our firm and our lawyers have extensive experience about resources, communications, power, transportation, technology, real estate, financial services, and manufacturing. Moreover, we also advise private equity investors, pension funds, and sovereign wealth funds. We have also converted some income trusts and royalty funds to corporate form.

Our firm is well rounded and covers all aspects of tax law comprising sales tax, anti dumping, as well as several commodity and trade taxes. Transactions including financial services or manufactured goods which are being done cross-border require an exceptional amount of commodity tax expertise. Our company has the knowledge and experience to assist our clients accomplish their tax objectives.

Among the main sectors we are involved in is acquiring advance income tax rulings. We are also often asked to provide opinions about a lot of matters pertaining to tax audits, and to advise on provincial and even federal tax legislation. In addition, businesses call upon us to advise them regarding stock options and other equity compensation arrangements.